Is my teacher crazy?

Note: School+homework+sports is normally a 12 hour day. Doing even just one paltry test every other day after class ends (9 total tests) is < 13% of the time of what you're used during school and the bare minimum students should do. If you run out of tests, email us and we'll give you more or you can get some before class even ends if you know you're definitely going to run out! If you want to finish earlier and not need to retake and/or have extremely ambitious score increase goals, just do more than the grid above!
